BRITISH LAND BLOW ON OLD HINDENBURG LINE

HERO AT MARNE

LIEUTENANT OVERTON
Lieutenant John W. Overton, of Nashville, Tenn., former track captain of Yale University and holder of the world's record for the mile run, was killed in the battle of the Marne on July 19, according to a letter received by his father from the front. Lieutenant Overton was known in athletics as Johnny Overton, and was prominent as one of the greatest runners in the world. He was holder of the world's records for the mile and 1000 yard runs. Soon after the United States entered the war he enlisted in the Marine Corps and was promoted to lieutenant.

7 FISHING BOATS SUNK

(By Associated Press Cable)

BRITISH BITE INTO HINDENBURG LINE

LONDON, August 26.—(Associated Press Cable)—In a few hours in their new attack today in the Scarpe region the British made an advance of two miles on a front of four miles, according to advices from the front.

In the battle area south of the Somme the French captured Resnoy-Les-Roye, about 3 miles north of Roye, according to today's dispatches.

HUN COUNTER BLOW COMPLETE FAILURE

PARIS, August 26, 1:00 p. m.—(Associated Press Cable)—The Germans today attempted a counter offensive on a large scale against the right wing of General Mangin's army in the region between Vailly and Soissons. The attack utterly failed.

(By The War Editor of The Associated Press)

Relentlessly the British are pushing the Germans back to the Hindenburg line. French enemy troops thrown into the desperate battles along the 30-mile front have failed to stop the men of Field Marshal Haig.

Extending the Picardy battle line far to the north in the Aisne sector the British launched an attack this morning in the Scarpe region east of Arras. This attack may be considered as a new development of the terrific battle east of the Aisne river. It is against the famous Hindenburg line.

The British war office today says that good progress is being made in the new attack.

Just to the south of the Coteul river the British seemingly encountered a slight set back.

Bapaume is seemingly being slowly pocketed by the British, being well surrounded on three sides. Favreuil, a mile and a half to the northeast, has been taken by the British who have passed beyond the village while further north Morv is being left behind by Field Marshal Haig's men.

Progress on each side of the Somme river is officially reported and it is said that the British are advancing toward Maricourt, four miles northeast of Bray, the latter now in allied hands.

There has been great artillery activity from Roye to the Aisne river, according to the French official report, but there is no mention of new infantry attacks in this vital sector.

As the battle stands today the British appear to be quite near the old Hindenburg line south of Arras, while they are making their new attack directly against it along the Scarpe river.

Heavy rain is falling today over the battle area. This will tend to slow down the movement of troops.

French pressure continues all along the southern wing to Soissons. Between the Oise and Aisne rivers General Mangin is pressing steadily toward the western extremity of the Chemin-Des-Dames. Unconfirmed reports have been received in the American lines on the Vesle that the enemy is withdrawing north of that river toward the Aisne.

Since last Wednesday the Germans have been driven eastward an average of more than four miles on the 30-mile front. The greatest allied gain has been six miles, toward Bapaume.

More than 17,000 German prisoners already have been counted and the enemy losses in prisoners are said to be in excess of the British casualties.

Unofficially the number of prisoners now is placed at 20,000.

Allied airplanes continuously bomb troop concentrations and strategic centers behind the German lines.

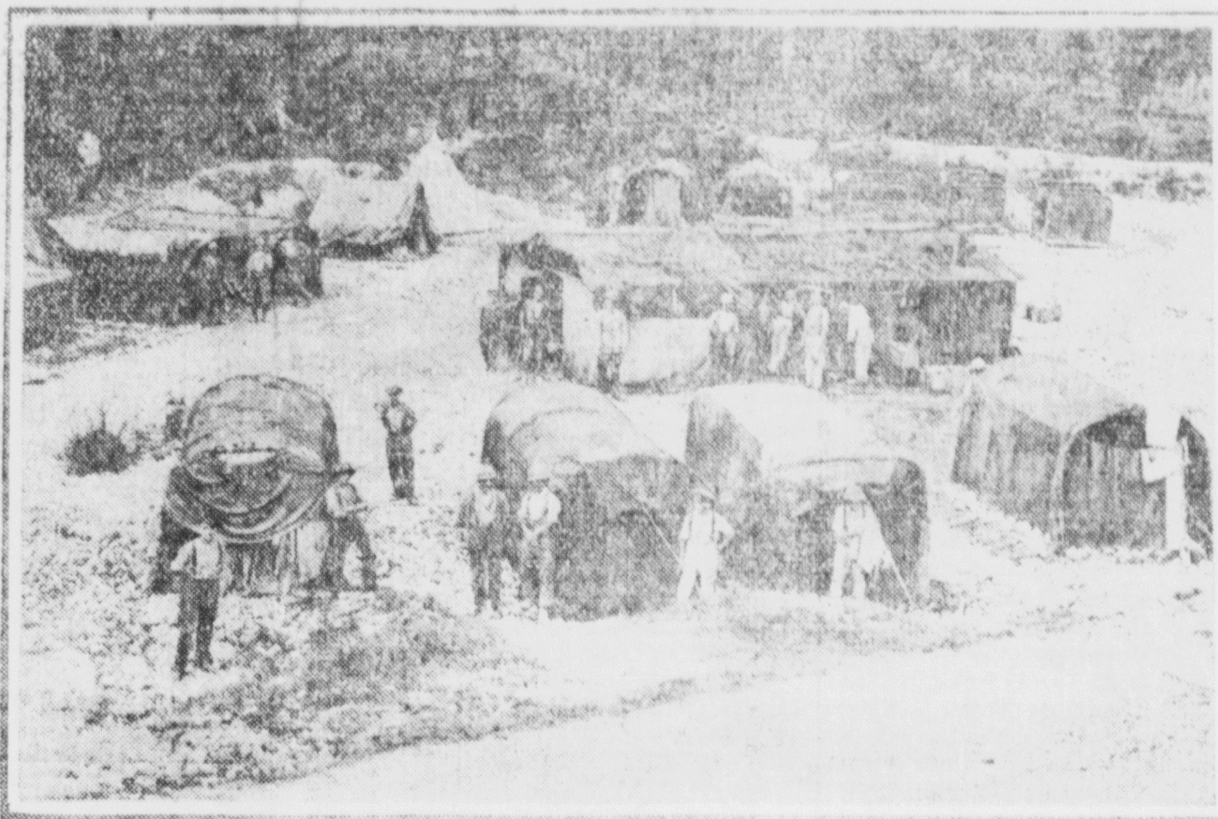

Premier Clemenceau says the fortunes of war have been definitely decided owing to the victories of the last six weeks.

Austro-Hungarians have been taken prisoner by the allies at two different points on the main battle line, but there are no indications that Austrian aid for the German battered divisions is in force.

Vienna says Austrian troops have crossed the Semini near the Adriatic and claims successes in the center and on the enemy's left.

Whisky Lapped Up by Fire.
Owensboro, Ky., Aug. 26.—Fire at the plant of the Green River Distilling company here destroyed the entire plant, 43,000 barrels of whisky, and entailed a loss well in excess of $3,000,000. The whisky alone was valued at $2,340,000 and the loss to the United States government in taxes is approximately $6,350,000.

INGENIOUS "TOMMIES" BUILD VILLAGE OF LORRY TOPS IN ITALY

BRITISH BUILD VILLAGE OF LORRY TOPS

There seems to be no place that the American and British soldiers can't make something like home. The battlefield homes seen in the picture were made out of the tops of old lorries by British soldiers after the troops had been landed on a barren waste in Italy, where there were neither sticks nor stones for building their billets. The little lorry apartments are completely furnished for light housekeeping.

A VISIT TO CAMP SHERMAN STOCKADE FOR GERMANS

By Associated Press Dispatch.

CAMP SHERMAN, Chillicothe, O., August 26.—The ration allowance to the 100 German prisoners held in the barbed wire stockade at Camp Sherman is simply plain soldiers' fare, with no extras and no ice cream. The prisoners have little means of entertainment and find about their only solace in their dog.

The dog is not a dachshund and he isn't much of a dog to act. But the interned sailors had him for a pet while they were still pirating the high seas for the Imperial German government, and when they were sent first to Fort McPherson, Ga., and then to this Ohio cantonment, Uncle Sam allowed them to take their slinking, long-tailed hound with them.

The dog didn't have a decent bark left in him when an Associated Press correspondent was permitted to visit the stockade, in company with First Lieutenant J. A. Rollman, in charge of the prisoners work, and Lieutenant D. W. O'Neil, chief of their guards. An armed soldier turned a big brass lock and clanked a steel chain at the outer gate. Another guard repeated at the second. The party entered at the end of the stockade where two prisoners were scaling fish. The open air kitchen was notably clean, as were the tents where the prisoners of war sleep.

But there was little within the stockade to suggest anything other than one of the military streets of tents which are in certain sections of Camp Sherman. The prisoners work in the fields of the cantonment farm, at construction work and a hundred useful tasks to which they have been put. Two armed guards accompany every group of ten prisoners sent to work outside the stockade, but so far the guards have had no use for the evil bayonets on the ends of their Enfields.

A party was lowering a wooden structure into a hole which was to receive the waste water from a shower bath house. Two soldiers oversaw the work. The Germans, one in particular—a little fellow with a yellow mustache—jumped around with a spryness that showed their sailor training. The structure had to be pushed and tilted. There was no easing off, letting the others do it, no surliness. Orders were given by the American guards in English, and one of the group of prisoners who seemed to understand was interpreting, as he kept up a flow of Berlin gutterals until the job was done.

These prisoners are brown, muscle-bound fellows. They work hard, play little and like to sleep in their spare time. They work ten hours a day when at the farm and eight hours a day when confined in the stockade. Every man is allowed two letters home a month, besides a weekly postcard. They are rather childishly eager for this single touch with the outside world, for they are allowed no visitors, and the guards address them only in line of duty.

Twenty-five American soldiers guard the stockade. A searchlight plays all night from each corner of the prison camp. It is not improbable, officers say, that the group of German prisoners at Camp Sherman may be increased.

ODD FLAG STARTS RIOT

By Associated Press Dispatch.

New York, August 26.—A white flag bearing in its center a red triangle innocently raised in an uptown street by Jewish Red Cross workers caused a disturbance today in which shots were fired and the strange banner destroyed in a bonfire.

Soldiers, sailors and civilians took part in a fight when the military men mistook the flag for the emblem of the Bolsheviks and tore it down.

Some of the civilians, it was stated, fired revolvers. No one was injured. Several arrests were made.

ROLL OF HONOR

The two casualty lists issued today contain 396 names, including five Ohioans.

The lists are divided as follows:
Killed in action, 98; missing in action, 56; wounded severely, 198; died of wounds, 39; died of accident, 6; wounded, degree undetermined, 87; prisoners, 1.

The Ohioans include—Missing in action, Morris Goodman, Toledo; wounded severely, Philip Hart, Kenton, Blair W. Fisher, Wooster; wounded, degree undetermined, Frank Newmeister, of Cincinnati; missing in action, Julius A. Deller, Cincinnati.

TEDDY SPEAKS

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Springfield, Ill., August 26.—Speed up the war, prepare to defend ourselves afterward and make ready to solve the industrial social problems which will come with peace, were the demands of Theodore Roosevelt expressed in an address he delivered here today.

Colonel Roosevelt spoke at the Centennial celebration of the admission of Illinois to statehood.

MAN-POWER BILL IS GIVEN CLEAR PATH

Final Passage of Draft Extension Measure Is Expected Tonight or Early Tomorrow.

Prohibition Measure Is Temporarily Laid on Table to Speed Man-Power Bill.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, August 26.—A clear track was given in the Senate today to the man-power bill, passed Saturday by the House, broadening the age limits from 18 to 45.

When the Senate convened under a long standing agreement to take up wartime prohibition, Senator Shepard moved to temporarily lay that measure aside.

It was agreed to and debate on the amendment to the man-power bill was resumed with passage late today or tomorrow expected. To simplify procedure the House bill was substituted for the draft which has been pending in the Senate Military Committee.

By a vote of 53 to 13 the Senate accepted the committee amendment providing for the education after the war at government expense of boys under 21 years of age who either enlist or are drafted into the military service.

HELP OFFICERS

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, August 26.—An amendment to the man-power bill providing for purchase from the government at cost by army, navy and marine corps officers of their uniforms and equipment, was adopted.

GERMAN TROOPS LOSE THEIR PEP

With the American army on the Vesle, August 25.—(Associated Press)—German soldiers believe that Germany is not planning any more offensives because of the man power shortage, according to one of a party of a German patrol captured by the Americans east of Fismes.

The soldier who was a former bank employee and the owner of a famous Berlin restaurant, said the soldiers no longer had any enthusiasm for war. Most of those with whom he came in contact believed the war would end soon.

Vladivostok Strike Is Fiasco—Claim U. S. Makes Loan.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

London, August 26.—Japanese troops are completing their concentration on the Ussuri front according to dispatches from Vladivostok. At Engeneuka sailors supported by armored cars attacked the Bolshevik troops in the face of heavy artillery fire and routed them. The strike at Vladivostok is terminating in a fiasco, as striking laborers have been paid off and Chinese substituted for them.

At the arsenal shops a serious clash between strikers and non-strikers occurred but allied patrols intervened. The dispatch says the Bolshevik agitation among various elements of workmen is subsiding.

It is reported that Americans have privately loaned the city of Vladivostok 3,500,000 rubles, taking the tramway as security.

BOLSHEVIKI LEADERS FLEE

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, August 26.—Nearly all of the Bolshevik leaders have left Petrograd and Moscow, according to information reaching the State Department today through Stockholm from a man who left Petrograd August 13th. He reported Lenin, the Bolshevik premier, on a battleship at Kronstadt and Trotsky aboard the former Emperor Nicholas's yacht, a short distance below Petrograd.

His message also told of a meeting held at Kronstadt in an endeavor to get the soldiers there to fight the Czechoslovaks. The purpose of the meeting was unsuccessful.

JAPS ARRIVE ENEMY FLEES

(By Associated Press Cable)

London, August 26.—General Semenov's opponents in the Trans-Baikal region have withdrawn as result of the arrival of Japanese troops at Manchuria, according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. Only 3,000 Bolshevik troops remain in that region.

HEAVY SHOWERS GIVE NEW LIFE TO VEGETATION

Steady Downpour Lasting Several Hours, Means Tens of Thousands of Dollars to the Fayette Farmers—A "Soaking" Rain.

Not in recent years has a rain been so generally welcomed in this part of Ohio as that of Sunday night and Monday morning, which means tens of thousands of dollars to Fayette farmers, although it did not penetrate the ground to any great depth.

The first rain fell early Sunday night, but it was only a drizzle during a small portion of the night. However, early Monday morning it settled down to a steady downpour which lasted well into the forenoon, and literally soaked in as it fell, so that it was an ideal rainfall following the great drought which has caused such heavy damage throughout the county.

As if by magic the brown lawns and fields, which appeared to be almost bare because of the hot sun and dry weather, sprang into new life and a surprising amount of greenness came to view as if by magic.

While the rain is not sufficient for more than a few days, it is hoped by all that it will "tide over" until a greater rainfall comes to the relief of this part of Ohio.

In some parts of the county the rainfall was the heaviest in more than two months.

WAR STAMP SALES VERY SATISFACTORY

The sale of War Savings Stamps in Fayette county is moving forward very satisfactorily, but those who have not yet purchased all the stamps they can are urged to do so without further delay, for if the Fayette County War Work Council fails to obtain sufficient sales during this week another drive will be organized and visits paid to those who have failed to make purchases, and they will be expected to show their patriotism without further delay.

The result of last week's drive will not be known until Saturday night of this week, and in the meantime the workers in many parts of the county are still rolling up the sales and doing all they can to make another drive unnecessary.

A great many $1,000 sales have been reported, and all who wish to get on the honor roll as having purchased the greatest amount allotted to any one purchaser, must lose no time in getting under the wire as speedily as possible.

THEY ARE HERE PLENTY OF 'EM

The little showers of Sunday night enticed the mosquitoes out in a greatly increased number to torment Washington citizens, who were greatly annoyed by the persistent presentation of the same bill.

One resident declares that he was aroused from his slumbers six successive times, and that each time he turned on the lights and did some killing until 38 of the "vampires" had been disposed of—each one having every indication of having dined sumptuously.

Another citizen, hearing the moans of the baby, found three of the greedy insects on its face—too full to fly.

The mosquito pest is reaching such alarming proportions that the citizens are very anxious for the Board of Health to take some steps to abolish the breeding places by spreading oil over the stagnant and disease-infested pools along Paint creek.

WHERE ALLIED BLOWS BENT FOE'S LINES

Two recent big developments of the battle in France were the capture of Albert and an advance of two miles between that city and the Ancre by the British and a sudden swing eastward of General Mangin's army, rolling up the right wing of the Crown Prince's forces. It had seemed that Mangin's movement was directed toward the capture of Noyon and pinching the German army in Picardy in connection with the British movement to the northward. But after planting his left flank firmly on the Oise with Humbert's army to guard it to the west, he suddenly turned his efforts toward the Plateau of St. Gobain and the rear of the Crown Prince. Dispatches say this movement surprised two German divisions that were preparing to attack him and caused such confusion that he was able to cross the Ailette River and approach Cony Forest Swift advance here would greatly endanger the German army on the Vesle and Aisne rivers.

The Allied Offensive

There are several reasons that may be, and are, quite logically too, assigned for the splendid successes of the allied armies. One, of course, which stands out prominently is the unified command. Since General Foch has been placed in supreme command of all the allied forces on all fronts the improved conditions have been marked. Even before the great allied offensive, which is still sweeping forward victoriously, was launched the improvement was markedly evident.

Another, of course, and perhaps equally important reason assigned is that America's tremendous power is making itself felt. With American troops on the fighting line, taking part in the actual battling in the crucial sectors, with American troops taking over and holding the so-called "quiet" sectors, releasing French and British veteran troops for other fronts, and above all, with America taking over the food supply problem and solving it and American reserves now approaching a million and a half in numbers, ready to supply any needed reinforcements, the allies have been able to take chances in offensive fighting that before America's entry into the war were deemed exceedingly hazardous, if not impossible of success.

The German forces early recognizing the superiority of the allied forces undertook to withdraw to stronger defensive positions. The determination of the allies in their offensives hurried the "orderly" retreat into a precipitate rout. So swift and so relentless was the pursuit that the Germans have not been given an opportunity to reform their shattered lines for defensive warfare.

Another important contributing factor is the total demoralization of the German plans. The rapidity with which attacks have been launched in widely separated sectors has prevented the deliberate massing of troops so essential to German fighting, either offensive or defensive.

In addition the German confidence has been "ruthlessly" destroyed and their nerves put on edge by the violence of the attacks.

In every sector of the vast war zone the Huns have been kept busy withdrawing from the pathway of the advancing allies, saving as much from disaster as possible.

The turn in the tides of war has been too great not to have a marked effect for good on the allied armies and a reverse effect on the armies of the enemy.

Since the first offensive on Chateau Thierry, local operations by the allies have grown in intensity and area with each opportunity as it presented itself, until the present magnificent offensive embracing practically the whole line from the Channel to Switzerland, hammering first near Soissons, then near Rheims, then near Arras, then near Albert, and in every other vital sector in turn, with mighty blows, in a system of attacks which is breaking to pieces the German battle line and destroying, beyond hope of rehabilitation, the German morale.

The Stubborn British

During the last week the British forces under General Haig and General Byng have continued to smash away determinedly against the German lines on the Picardy front. The result of their ponderous blows has been to break down the German defense and to destroy the morale of the German troops as nothing else has done, more effectively, since the war began.

"The British are a stubborn people," the Kaiser said to Ambassador Gerard in commenting upon the possible duration of the war. Just how "stubborn" they are even the Kaiser didn't realize when he made that remark. That stubbornness was revealed when the little army of "contemptibles," a term which the Kaiser used in referring to the British land forces at the outbreak of the war, assisted the Belgians in holding back the Huns until France could prepare for the first Marne victory and until Kitchner could begin building the armies of Britain, which have already sent over six million men to France.

That new and larger army of "contemptibles" which the Kaiser sought to crush in his gigantic March offensive and upon which he inflicted such terrible losses is back again with more power than ever, pounding the German lines to pieces, capturing scores of thousands of the Kaiser's best troops, hundreds of guns and compelling the enemy to flee in precipitate retreat.

The Kaiser was right. The British are "stubborn." They have held back the Huns from the channel ports, they have maintained supremacy of and have driven German commerce from the sea, they have bottled up the Kaiser's fleet in the harbor of Kiel, they have guarded the gateways at Suez and Gibraltar, they have taken all of Germany's colonial possessions, they have transported millions of men from the four corners of the earth to France, and carried millions of tons of foodstuffs to the allies, they have driven the Turk from the Holy Land, they have punctured the Berlin-to-Bagdad bubble of the Kaiser and they are fighting as never before in Picardy—

And never yet has the Hun set iron heel upon one inch of British territory.

They are a stubborn people—those British.

Poetry For Today

DO YOU GO FISHIN'?

A feller isn't thinkin' mean,
 Out fishin';
 His thoughts are mostly good and clean
 Out fishin';
 He doesn't knock his fellow men,
 Or harbor any grudges then;
 A feller's at his finest, when
 Out fishin';

The rich are comrades to the poor,
 Out fishin';
 All brothers of a common lure,
 Out fishin';
 The urchin with the pin and string
 Can charm with millionaire and king;
 Vain pride is a forgotten thing,
 Out fishin';

A feller's glad to be a friend,
 Out fishin';
 A helpin' hand he'll always lend,
 Out fishin';
 The brotherhood of rod and line,
 An' sky an' lake is always fine,
 Men come real close to God's design
 Out fishin';

A feller isn't plotting schemes
 Out fishin';
 He's only busy with his dreams,
 Out fishin';
 His livery is a coat of tan,
 His creed: to do the best he can;
 A feller's always mostly man,
 Out fishin';

The Ohio War Board Says Today

College students in Ohio, in the Students' Army Training Corps will stand a chance of winning a commission in the Army when they are called to the colors if they remain in college this year.

The War Department has approved a plan for the Student Army Training Corps which, while it does not guarantee an officer's commission, it is at the present time the plainest road leading in that direction.

Wm. E. Snyder, Dean of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, is the State Director for Ohio of the Student Army Campaign and is prepared to give information to colleges and students on this subject.

Students enlisted in the Student's Army Training Corps, while practically in the military service, will, of course, have to register when they have reached the draft age, but it will be determined when his number is called whether he must respond to the colors or continue his studies in school.

DOCTORS AGREE

(American Press)
 Columbus, Aug. 26.—Physicians of Ohio, meeting here, not only adopted a plan for the immediate and complete mobilization of the medical profession, but abandoned all professional plans that would conflict with or impede this work.

The immediate enlargement of the army and the operation of the new draft law made necessary radical rearrangement of plans. The assembly voted unanimously to abandon the twenty-second annual convention of the Ohio State Medical association, and to devote the executive staff in Columbus to the new medical mobilization plan authorized last week by the surgeon general and the council of national defense.

TORPEDOES GET MUCH ATTENTION

(Associated Press Correspondence)
 An Irish Port, August 20.—It requires frequent over-hauling by highly skilled mechanics and a plant especially equipped for the work to maintain torpedoes in a state of efficiency to insure effectiveness. One small defect that may develop as the torpedo lays in a tube on a vessel may render it worthless at a time when most needed.
 Lack of facilities and men who understood torpedoes brought to officers of the American Destroyer Base a rather perplexing problem some months ago, but it has been successfully met and work is now progressing on a scale that rivals a torpedo station in the United States.

Becker.

 Washington, August 26.—President Wilson, Senate prohibition leaders declared today, is not opposed to legislation pending proposing national prohibition during the war, but has suggested that the proposed time for its becoming effective—January 1st next—be extended.

Negotiations to that end, it was said, seemed to assure an agreement for passage of the bill and also for some extension of the time to liquor interests.

ENJOY A PICNIC SUPPER OUTDOORS

You have often known of hard-working women who scarcely have time to leave their kitchens during the entire summer day. Perhaps they dream of that cool place down by the brook, that lovely spot in the old pasture, without stopping to think that they could go and enjoy themselves there.

For example, why can't the family eat supper out of doors almost any night? It will take no longer to prepare. Don't hesitate a minute but pack up the lunch and tell them all you'll meet them there at five thirty.

Here is an idea or two from the United States Food Administration as to what you may care to take.

BASE HOSPITAL IN OLD IRELAND

An Irish Port, August 21.—(Associated Press Correspondence) — The American Navy is constructing a base hospital here on the grounds of an old estate at one of the most picturesque spots on the Irish coast. The ward and other buildings which are almost completed are on a slope that gently rises from the sea to be topped at its crest by a fringe of giant beech trees in front of which is the old mansion house. The old home is being attractively fitted as a nurses' home to accommodate eighteen of the thirty nurses to be sent here.

While there has been very little sickness among the personnel at the American Destroyer Base, a hospital has been needed. The buildings were constructed on the "knocked down" plan, shipped here and are now being pieced together.

The hospital will have its own garden, raise its own poultry and maintain its own small dairy. Already the sailors have turned farmers. Pastures on the estate afford a good hay crop. The barn has been filled with it and there is a fair sized stack in a field ready for the stock that is to come.

THE COLONIAL THEATRE

"CIVILIZATION"

TONIGHT
Tues., Wedn., Thurs.

THE picture which has stirred the world with its stirring scenes, Christian and human teachings. The theme is the Spirit of Christ arising and leading the King of War, devastated fields, battlefields, demolished towns and sorrowing parents—all of which the King of War resists—but is finally led back to his Palace, where he signs a Peace Pact.

The spectacle ends with joyous scenes of the soldiers all returning to their loved ones.

BRITISH TAKE 17,000 HUNS

(American Press)

London, Aug. 26.—Notwithstanding the fact that the enemy has brought up strong reinforcements on both wings of the battle front, the English and French forces everywhere have beaten off the enemy and advanced.

Many additional towns have been captured by Field Marshal Haig's men in the north, while the French have successfully overcome obstacles placed in their way and reached territory north of Soissons, which adds further to the danger of the Germans in the Noyon sector and to their line running eastward from Soissons to Rheims.

All along the front from Arras to the Somme the Germans are gradually being driven back to the old Hindenburg line by the British. Along the Somme the enemy is being harassed well to the east of Bray, while farther north strong counter attacks have been repulsed and the town of Mametz, the Mametz wood, Martinpuich, Le Sars and Le Barque have been captured.

It is around Bapaume that the Germans are keeping up their strongest efforts to hold back the tide that is surging against them, but the British are continuing to make slight gains daily in the process of surrounding the town, which seemingly soon must be evacuated. The taking of Le Sars and Le Barque appears to be a forerunner of this eventuality. Le Barque is only two and a half miles southwest of Bapaume.

Everywhere except directly south of Bapaume the British are well across the Bapaume-Albert road and north of the town they are fast pressing forward toward the Hindenburg line. Unofficial reports have placed the British in the outskirts of Ballecourt, which is just west of the old line.

Since last Wednesday the British have taken more than 17,000 prisoners, and large numbers of guns and great quantities of supplies also have fallen into their hands. Some of the prisoners taken have been identified as coming from Austro-Hungarian units.

The Germans are launching strong counter attacks against the French between the Oise and Ailette rivers, in an endeavor to hold back General Mangin's army, which is threatening the entire German front in this region. Here also the Germans have been reinforced by troops from the dual monarchy. North of Soissons, in the region of Bagneux, the French have made further progress eastward and now are abreast the railroad line running from Soissons to Laon. A considerable number of additional prisoners have fallen into French hands.

As yet there has been no movement by the Germans along the Vesle river to indicate that a retirement toward the Aisne is in immediate prospect. The Americans and French in this region continue to heavily shell the enemy's back areas. Farther east in the Vosges region the Americans are keeping up their patrol activity against the enemy. The Americans also are busily engaged in bombing German points behind the line.

VERNON ACTON AMONG WOUNDED

Writing to his father, Lot C. Acton of Frankfort, Private Vernon Acton, of M Company, in addition to telling of being severely wounded which he terms "nothing" says that the Germans do the most complaining when wounded. He says:

"I was carried off the battle field last Sunday morning to a first aid station, and was laid down in a mess of blood. There were wounded lying all around me, both French and American and there was one wounded Hun prisoner there who was making more noise than all the other put together. So you can see the Americans are gritty," said Private Vernon Acton formerly of Frankfort, company M, 166th infantry, in a letter to his father Lot C. Acton.

"The piece of shrapnel that hit me must have been as big as a good sized marble for it went through my leg about half way between the knee and the hip. It went almost through the center, but did not hit the bone. Of course they operated on me to see if there were any pieces of bone left in the wound. It don't bother me much; I sleep and eat all right. A fellow that lets a wound like that bother him isn't much of a soldier. I guess the Germans are finding out that the Americans are 'there'."

Private Acton is now located in Base Hospital 19 in France, and is recovering from the shrapnel bullet rapidly. He says that the treatment in the hospital is better than one can expect, and praises the work of the hospital units. He says that he is feeling good, except that the wound is a little sore. The letter was written August 4th.

AUTO MAKERS CUT OUTPUT

(American Press)

Washington, Aug. 26.—Manufacturers of passenger automobiles and repair parts have agreed with the war industries board to limit production during the last six months of 1918 to 25 per cent of the total production in 1917, according to announcement in the form of a letter from the war industries board to the national automobile chamber of commerce. To permit this production, the board gave notice that it will extend preferential treatment for the obtaining of materials necessary to "match up" the stock on hand.

Plants having an excess supply of steel on hand after completing the permitted construction, according to the terms of the agreement, will be required to turn over the supply to other plants. The agreement means the cutting of automobile production during the last half of the present year at least 50 per cent.

The board in its letter refused to make any promises concerning production of passenger automobiles after Dec. 31, 1918, but reiterated its previous request that all plants get on a war work basis before the end of the year.

MAN POWER BILL IS UP

(American Press)

Washington, Aug. 26.—The senate has before it the house man power bill, extending the selective draft to all men between the ages of 18 and 45. It was passed by the house with only minor changes in the original draft of the war department. Leaders predict its passage by the senate early this week.

The senate plans to substitute the house bill for the measure favorably reported by the military committee of that body and thus expedite its final enactment. Congressional leaders hope to send the measure to the president by the latter part of the week.

The bill passed the house with only two negative votes. A futile effort was made by Chairman Dent to place the 18-year-old boys in a deferred class. An attempt to insert a work or fight amendment, by which those exempted from military service on occupational grounds would be required to remain at their civil tasks, also failed. This amendment was directed against strikes, which was characterized by officials of the American Federation of Labor as a conscription of labor. The bill as passed exempts members of congress, state legislatures and federal and state executive officers from the draft.

The revenue bill was completed today by the house ways and means committee, and will be formally introduced in the house Thursday and called up for initial consideration on the following Monday. Its passage in the lower body by Sept. 15 generally is expected. To expedite senate consideration, Chairman Simmons of the senate finance committee plans a meeting late this week to set a date to begin hearings on the house draft of the measure. Ten days of senate committee hearings are planned, and passage of the bill by the senate early in November is hoped for.

Prohibition will follow the draft bill and negotiations now are on between "wets" and "dry" leaders of the senate toward a compromise. As pending, the bill proposes virtually a "bone dry" prohibition for the country, beginning Jan. 1 next, and efforts are being made to secure a respite of several months for the liquor traffic, which is important in connection with the federal revenues and the new war tax bill.

DEFICIT SHOWN

(American Press)

Washington, Aug. 26.—Owing largely to big back payments of wage increases, the railroads under federal control in June reported an aggregate deficit of $58,959,000 in railway operating income, as compared with positive earnings of $38,909,000 in June. These figures, compiled by the interstate commerce commission, show that the government has lost about $290,000,000 in operation of railroads during the first six months this year. The wage payments in June under Director General McAdoo's order, as reported by 164, or about three-fourths of the first class roads, amounted to $133,000,000. Without this added expense the railroads in June would have earned $74,084,000.

BOOST AMENDMENT

(American Press)

Columbus, Aug. 26.—It is not a mere endorsement of woman suffrage, but a definite O. K. for the federal suffrage amendment, now before congress, that Ohio suffragists seek from both Republican and Democratic conventions here this week. Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton of Warren, president of the state association, will have headquarters at the Hartman during the conventions. The suffragists will show the political leaders a letter President Wilson wrote to Senator Shields of Tennessee, in which the president said the passage of the amendment at this time is the city without fire protection, element in the conduct of the war for democracy.

DAUGHTER ALWAYS TIRED

Mother Says Vinol Built Her Up and Completely Restored Her Health.

Long Island City, N. Y.—"My daughter is a milliner and she got into a rundown condition, pale and had no appetite. After other medicines failed to help her, Vinol gave her a good appetite, built her up and completely restored her health."—Mrs. H. Ott.

The reason Vinol was so successful in this case is because it contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weakened, rundown system, and create strength. Blackmer & Tanquary and druggist everywhere.

XENIA IS ENJOYING "ABUNDANT SUPPLY"

Commenting on the fact that Washington is suffering a serious shortage of water due to the fact that sufficient deep wells are not available to furnish the "abundant supply" called for in the contract with the water company, the Xenia Gazette quotes the superintendent of the Xenia Water Company as declaring that a sufficient supply is available in Xenia and that there have been no restrictions on sprinkling and for all other ordinary purposes.

The periodical shortage of water in this city in the face of an abundant supply called for is arousing an ever increasing storm of protest over the necessity of exercising great economy in saving water when it is needed most.

CAPT. O. E. HARDWAY WAS IN HOSPITAL

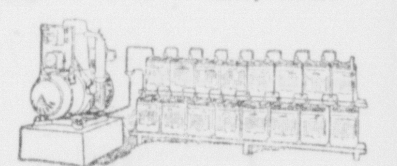

Mrs. Hardway has received a letter from Captain O. E. Hardway stating that he was in a hospital suffering of inflammatory rheumatism, but hoped to be out within a short time. Captain Hardway has been a sufferer of rheumatism since a lad of eight years, some attacks proving very severe and keeping him confined to his bed for some time.

His letter indicated that he anticipated only a short attack of the disease, however. His letter was written August 6th.

ORDER YOUR FERTILIZERS NOW

The Office of Information, United States Department of Agriculture, has just issued the following announcement:

"Farmers are urged by the United States Department of Agriculture to place orders at once for fertilizer needed for fall wheat. It is very important, according to W. W. Mein, Assistant of the Secretary of Agriculture in charge of the licensing of fertilizer concerns under the Food Control Act, that dealers and manufacturers know farmers' needs as soon as possible, so that orders can be combined and car space used to the best advantage. Transportation difficulties require that freight cars be loaded to their rated capacity. Delay in ordering, it is said, may result in a repetition of last spring's experience when many farmers failed to receive their mixed fertilizer and acid phosphate until after planting time."

Orders can be filled in the "ACORN" or other leading brands of Williams & Clark's Fertilizers and delivered at your nearest station if you

OWNERS HELD NOT LIABLE

(American Press)

New York, Aug. 26.—The Cunard Steamship company can not be held liable for loss of life and property in the torpedoing of the Lusitania by a German submarine, according to a decision handed down in the admiralty branch of the United States district court by Judge Julius M. Mayer.

"The cause of the sinking of the Lusitania was the illegal act of the Imperial German government, acting through its instrument, the submarine commander," declared Judge Mayer, who held that "the fault, therefore, must be laid upon those who are responsible for the sinking of the vessel in the legal as well as moral sense."

In dismissing suits against the Cunard line aggregating nearly $1,000,000, brought by heirs of persons who perished with the Lusitania on May 7, 1915, Judge Mayer asserted that "it is not to be doubted that the United States of America and her allies will well remember the rights of those affected by the sinking of the Lusitania, and when the time shall come will see to it that reparation shall be made for one of the most indefensible acts of modern times."

Judge Mayer went exhaustively into the claims that the Cunard line was negligent, and dismissed them, with the conclusion that the captain and members of the crew took every precaution justified by the then known facts, both before and after the vessel was torpedoed.

Judge Mayer declared that proof brought out in his investigation which covered a year, is conclusive that the Lusitania was not and never had been armed and that on the voyage on which she was sunk she did not carry explosives.

Discussing the warning advertisements published by the German embassy in New York newspaper on May 1, the day the Lusitania sailed, Judge Mayer said: "Few at that time would be likely to construe the warning advertisement as calling attention to more than the perils to be expected from quick disembarkation and the possible rigors of the sea after the proper safeguarding of the lives of passengers by at least full opportunity to take to the boats."

HUN OFFICERS ARE DOWNCAST

(American Press)

London, Aug. 26.—The demeanor of hundreds of German officers taken prisoners recently is in striking contrast with the attitude of officers captured during the British retreat last spring. Then German officer prisoners were arrogant and meant to crush the British to earth, but now they are depressed and very anxious. They appear very willing to talk and the tenor of their conversation may be summed up as follows: They say Germany entered the war with enthusiasm, but this has long since disappeared and the struggle has now become an economic one with Great Britain. They admit that Germany is in practically a hopeless condition, both economically and from the man power point of view, and ask whether Great Britain can not now consider Germany sufficiently reduced to be no longer a dangerous trade rival or whether the allies intend to crush her altogether. In the latter case, they say, Germany will be forced to fight to the last. They say they believe there is even disposition to evacuate Belgium and northern France and even negotiate for the retention or evacuation of Alsace-Lorraine.

RED CROSS ACTIVITIES

Women all over the country who are doing their share of the patriotic work the war demands of women are showing apathy in the face of the grave need for their services.

Says one chairman of a woman's war activities, "There is a great waste of energy on the part of women all over the country. Every body should get busy at something worth while. It actually hurts me to see people crocheting and tatting now. How they have the leisure to do such things with all the necessary work there is to be accomplished and considering how badly the government needs their help, is more than I can understand."

Instead of everybody doing a share and lightening the general responsibility and the general burden, all the war activities are left to a comparatively few, who are wearing out their energies through overwork.

Few have been the responses for Student Reserve Nurses. Many show an unwillingness to comply with the Food Conservation requirements, a reluctance born of the instinct of self-preservation and accompanied by a disregard of the rights of others. They do not appreciate that Food Conservation is necessary—that there must be an equal distribution of the government is able to prevent famine and suffering. A food expert says that there is absolutely necessity of women receiving training in using floor substitutes and advocates of classes for this purpose.

To Keep Soldier Record.
Hereafter, the American Red Cross will have a record of every soldier and sailor entering the service.

Registrants called into the service now are receiving through the mail a soldiers' and sailors' record card bearing the insignia of the Red Cross which he is requested to fill out and return to the local board on the day he is called to report to headquarters to receive final instruction before going to camp. The card contains a brief record of the soldier, showing his status in life, whether married or single, and giving his order number. This card is kept on file by the Red Cross, and will aid the draft board in locating the man at once should it be found necessary to do so.

PVT. LEROY LEMONS WANTS TO GET HUNS

Writing to his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Lemons from an American camp in France, Private Leroy J. Lemons, Co. E, 329th Infantry, states that the boys of his company are enjoying themselves and all are in good spirits. He expresses a desire to be back for a short time, but also is anxious to get a few of the "dirty Huns" before returning. Private Lemons declares that he is much larger than when in Camp Sherman, and states that he has been working on a telephone system. He sends regards to all friends.

MAKES DENIAL

(American Press)

Archangel, Russia, Aug. 26.—An official announcement issued by the entente allied governments in the northern region of Russia denied the statement recently made by Lenin and Trotsky, the Bolshevik premier and war minister, respectively, that Great Britain, France and the United States were enemies of Russia. The allied military action, the announcement adds, was aimed at the expulsion of the Germans from Russian territory and the suppression by force of arms of the Brest-Litovsk treaty.

GREAT FIRE IN CANTON

(American Press)

Canton, O., Aug. 26.—Fire, which started in Klein & Hefelman's company's store, destroyed the block surrounded by Tuscarawas, East Second street and Walnut and Piedmont streets, causing a loss estimated at $1,000,000. The fire spread also to the block south of Second street into the Dine-Devesse company building. Fire companies summoned from Akron and Massillon helped firemen combat the flames.

The origin of the conflagration is unknown. Starting in the Klein & Hefelman dry goods and furniture store in Tuscarawas Street East, the flames were blown by a stiff breeze across Second street southeast, igniting several other warehouses and stores.

Among the heaviest losers are: Klein & Hefelman, $250,000; Dine-Devesse, automobile supplies, $150,000; Scioto Valley Supply company, automobile accessories, $100,000; the Stark Dry Goods company warehouse, $100,000. Warehouse of Flory Grocery and Baking company, was destroyed with a loss of $60,000, including several thousand pounds of sugar, much flour and other food stuffs. Globe Clothing company, $50,000 stock. Harvard Clothing company, $50,000; Nobil Shoe company, $30,000.

PAIR NABBED FOR ALLEGED ROBBERY

Acting on important information secured at Police Headquarters Friday afternoon, Agent A. H. Caplinger of the Western and Southern Life Insurance Company, and Belva Soward of West Second street, were arrested Saturday morning on a warrant charging them with grand larceny in connection with the robbery of the safe of the Insurance Company, Tuesday night or Wednesday morning of almost $500 in money. The warrant was signed by C. D. Wolf, local manager of the Insurance Company.

When searched at police headquarters, over $667 in cash was found on Caplinger, which was proof enough that he had made a rich haul somewhere recently. The two were locked up at police headquarters in separate cells and the work of police in gathering up the loose ends of the case is going on rapidly. It is expected that one or both will confess their part in the robbery shortly.—Xenia Gazette.
